Blackjack Rules
(page 69)

In addition to the regular blackjack rules here is a variation for Double Deck Blackjack

DOUBLE DECK BLACKJACK RULES:

Double Deck is played with 104 cards 2 decks consisting of 52 cards each. This will be shuffled by a shuffle machine and in the event the machine malfunctions, this will be shuffled by hand shuffle, shuffle strip shuffle, the player will cut the cards, one will be burned into the discard holder and the game will be dealt out of the shoe from there. The dealer will cut at least three quarters of a deck. The cards will be dealt face down to the players. The players will handle the cards.

The Play, how the game is played, other than the player being able to handle the cards, the shuffle, the shuffle machine, wagers, dead game mode, value of cards, placement of wagers, delivery of cards, hitting the players hands other than if doubling down the card will then be placed face down next to the players bet for only the player to see, the picking up players and dealers cards, the way you double down, splitting of hands, and insurance, along with payment of blackjack, taking and paying all remains as the internal controls state.

Double Deck Blackjack Rules:

- *Double Down 10, 11 Only
- *No Double after a split
- *Split Aces only Once
- *Dealer hits soft 17

A variation for:

DOUBLE EXPOSURE BLACKJACK:

Double exposure blackjack is played with 6 decks shuffled by a shuffling machine. All the basic blackjack rules apply as in the internal controls. The cards including the dealer's cards are dealt face up. The only variations to this game is the you can see the dealer's cards and therefore the rules are as follows:

Double Exposure Blackjack Rules:

- *Double Down on 10 & 11 only
- *No Double after a split
- *No Re-splitting Aces
- *Blackjack pays even money
- *Dealer hits a soft 17

Section: IV. 18.E.24Player Wagering On More than One Betting Spot. (page 96)

A player may wager on more than one hand at a blackjack table provided that there are no players waiting in the casino.

1. A player that chooses to play two hands must do so at double the table minimum.
2. A player that chooses to play more than two hands must play double the table minimum on each hand.
3. A player wishing to play his/her own table may do so by purchasing chips totaling 30 times the table minimum. Example at a $5 minimum bet x 30 = $150 chip purchase. Player may play seven spots or the entire table so long as;
 - a. Player must play the table minimum, which is also the table maximum. All bets are equal unless it is the person last bet. If a player cannot bet the amounts required per spot they will receive action for their money at that time. They may not exceed the house maximum bet, and must play the minimum of one full shoe.
 - b. A player may play seven spots dropping down to four spots, dropping down to three spots, but may never increase the amount of spots they are playing once they drop down during that shoe. A player must play a minimum of three spots at all times.
 - c. At the beginning of the new shoe the player may choose how many spots he/she would like to play during this shoe. If he/she chooses to play four spots they can drop down to three and must remain there for the entire shoe, he cannot go up to the seven spots.
 - d. One complimentary shuffle will be allowed, when asked for by the player, Before the shoe is finished out however, this is only once during the buy-in.
 - e. All other Standard how rules apply.
